

I seem to remember something about not airing movies in which Ronald Reagan acted while he was campaigning for election unless his opponents received the same free air time.

How is it that Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is any different?

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to adhere to any FCC and FEC rules.

Thank you.